

Adventureland and New Orleans Square

---

ENCHANTED TIKI ROOM - This is a fun sit down show for kids. It's a really great place to cool off. There is one part where there is lightening and drums that can be a little scary for little ones. They have the most amazing pineapple whips and floats you can buy as you wait. There really isn't a line for this ride. You wait in the garden area and then file in. I've never had to wait for a second show.

DISNEYLAND RAILROAD - Stops in New Orleans Square between the Haunted Mansion and Pirates of the Caribbean. This is the train's 2nd stop. Comes from Main Street on the way to Fantasyland right by Small World.

HAUNTED MANSION - No age or height requirement but be wary for kids under the age of 8. The line moves fast.

INDIANA JONES ADVENTURE - Must be 46 inches tall to ride. The line is long as far as the distance is concerned (where you enter is a long way from where you get on the ride - if you walked the entire cue its almost 1/2 mile). This is one that is wise to fast pass. Ride is really fun but if you have back problems, you might not enjoy it since its jerky. Half way through the line there is one hallway you walk through that has spikes on the ceiling and on the sides of the room. There is a bamboo pole and if you pull on it the ceiling will drop a few inches.

JUNGLE CRUISE - No age or height requirement. Fun ride for all ages. They tell corny jokes as you ride through the Amazon. It's another good ride to relax and cool off on. There is one point where the worker will shoot a cap type of gun that can scare kids but I don't think it's too scary for any age. Line moves average to fast.

PIRATES OF THE CARIBBEAN - No age or height requirement. Kids 3 and under might not like it because of the drops, noise, and dark. Line moves fast and the ride is long so its a nice sit down break. The ride is entirely underground so it's nice and cool.

TARZAN'S TREE HOUSE - This is a great walkthrough of Tarzans tree house. Younger kids love it and you get some fun views from the top. Great ride to take little ones on while older members ride Indiana Jones. At the end of the walkthrough there is a little hands on area for kids to touch and make music.